Kansas Town Is Next Campaign Stop For Willkie

Republican Candidate To Make Address At Coffeyville In September

DEVOTES ATTENTION TO FARMER'S VOTE

Still Awaiting Reaction Of Roosevelt On His Debate Challenge At Elwood

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 19.—Wendell Willkie's selection of Coffeyville, Kas., as the locale for his first formal campaign appearance after his Elwood acceptance speech, indicated today that the mid-west and west is the battleground he has chosen for the campaign rather than the financial and industrial east.

Like a boxer who knows his opponent's best punch and neatly avoids it, Willkie evidently intends to give the east, where the New Deal has him labeled as a Wall street utilities man, a wide berth for the present and function in the crop and cattle country in his preferred role of Hoosier native and farm owner.

He created that impression when he picked Colorado for a vacation spot and visited Wyoming, Utah and Iowa during his five weeks stay, talking with farmers, cattle men, beet sugar growers and breeders. He strengthened it when he selected his home town of Elwood for his acceptance speech and now he seems to confirm it with the Coffeyville announcement.

When it comes to fishing, not all the big ones are caught by the experienced old timers. This was proven by Hartzell Houston, Jr., of Winter avenue, who accompanied his father and Jack McGonigle to Rice Lake, Canada, last week. Just before breaking camp preparatory to returning home, the fishing party was having its final fling, when young Hartzell, who is 14 years of age, hooked the prize beauty, an eight-pound muskellunge, which measured over 30 inches in length. He landed it after quite a battle.

Police Surprise Trio In Store Robbery; All Three Captured

Kalim George and James Ross, two of the three caught burglarizing the A. and P. Super market, South Mercer street, Sunday today were arraigned before Alderman O. H. P. Green and held in default of $5,000 bail for a hearing Friday. Hugh Berger alias Lou Edwards, third alleged burglar, was arraigned in the county jail and similar bail fixed also for a hearing Friday. The charges were sworn to by Police Chief W. G. McMullen.

Kalim George, 29, and James Ross, 23, both of this city and Hugh Berger alias Lou Edwards, 29, of Pittsburgh and Youngstown, were held in the city jail here today having been captured at 5 a.m. Sunday at the A. & P. super-market, South Mercer street, by city police officers.

They were placed under arrest by Policemen Harry Reese, Joseph Logan, Clarence Welsh, David Nelson, Daniel Williams and Acting Lieutenant D. J. Thomas, after police had sped there following a "tip" to Sergeant W. G. Smith that the market was being burglarized.

Ross Is Seized

Officers Reese and Logan seized Ross in South Mercer street. It was alleged he was patroling as a "lookout" in front of the store. He was hand-cuffed to a cruiser car. Reese

Cadet Band Of Legion Second

Is Nosed Out For Top Honors By Scant Margin In Parade At Reading

SHOWERS MAR BIG SPECTACLE

Perry S. Gaston Post's cadet band, composed of junior musicians of the city, again scored a triumph in the closing day parade of the Pennsylvania American Legion at Reading, Saturday, when they took second place honors, competing against both cadet and senior organizations. They lost first place by only a fraction of a point.

In spite of showers which fell throughout the five-hour parade, the local boys still retained their enthusiasm and spirit at the end, and added another honor to their long list.

Their showing reflects great credit on Director Joe Replogle, and the members of the band committee, who have assisted in drilling the boys.

Made Trip In Buses

The band left here Friday morning in two big buses, arriving in Reading Friday evening. They returned home yesterday. They were accompanied by George D. Moote, business manager; Harold Blewitt, general manager; and Karl Douglass, property manager.

Thursday evening, local residents will have an opportunity to see the band in action, when members will stage a concert in connection with the Sons of the Legion social event on the Dana lawn. Saturday, the band will accompany the firemen to the northwestern Pennsylvania firemen's convention parade in Farrell, and on Thursday, August 29, they will accompany the New Castle Elks Lodge to Washington, Pa., where they will march with them in the state convention parade in that city.

Guard Training Legislation Is Being Delayed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Legislation authorizing President Roosevelt to mobilize the National Guard for a year's training met further delay today when the Senate sent the bill to conference between Senate and House members to iron out differences over amendments by both houses.

Chief points of difference between the two houses is the Senate amendment stricken out by the House which would have made it a possible violation of the national labor relations act for employers to fail to rehire draftees after their period of service.

Some administration leaders had hoped that the Senate would agree to the House amendment without debate in order that the bill might be sent immediately to the White House.

New Castle Men Are Amazed At Crowd At Elwood

Return From Attendance At Willkie Acceptance Ceremonies In Indiana

While there were but a few New Castle people in Elwood, Ind., Saturday to attend the Willkie acceptance ceremonies, the ones who did attend were amazed at the tremendous crowd and the order with which it was handled. Among those from New Castle who attended were Captain Roger W. Rowland, Police Lieutenant George S. Kennedy, Louis A. Haug and Lee Christy.

The latter three went to Elwood on the special train out of Youngstown while Captain Rowland left on the Pittsburgh special.

"It was an amazing demonstration," said Lieutenant Kennedy. "The estimates put the number present at 200,000 and I imagine this was no exaggeration. We arrived in Ellwood about 2 p. m. Saturday and were able to get seats about 40 rows from the speakers' stand.

"For several miles as we were pulling into the vicinity of Elwood we saw thousands of automobiles parked but in the town of Elwood the only cars permitted were official

Wallace Will Open Campaign For Farm Vote

Roosevelt's Running Mate To Stump Nation In Behalf Of Candidacy

PRESIDENT BACK AT SUMMER HOME

Returns From Defense Conference With Leaders Of Canada At Border

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Momentarily ignoring Wendell Willkie's challenge to a series of face-to-face debates, President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of agriculture, effective Sept. 5, and sent his 1940 running mate out on the stump to capture the farm vote.

The president outlined his campaign approach to the agricultural problem as he returned to his Hudson valley home after a weekend of conferences at the border with Canadian Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King which resulted on agreement on a positive defensive alliance between the United States and the British dominion.

Having arranged appointment of a joint board of defense comprised of American and Canadian military leaders, Mr. Roosevelt turned his attention to the domestic political scene.

Senate Resumes Consideration Of Army Draft Bill

Opposition To Conscription Unchanged By Attitude Of Willkie, Leaders Say

BARKLEY FORESEES VOTE BY SATURDAY

Opponents Assert They Have Power To Force Substitute Measure In Senate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—With Wendell L. Willkie endorsing peacetime conscription, senate leaders today were hopeful of passage of the bill to register and make liable for one year's military service 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley, calling the senate in session an hour earlier than usual, predicted the bill will be passed in substantially its present form by Saturday.

Opposition Unchanged

Although supporters of the bill said the Republican presidential candidate's approval of some form of selective service ensures passage of the bill, leaders of the opposition bloc said the effect of his approval would be negligible. In fact Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of the isolationists, and others fighting the bill, said Willkie's endorsement "will not change one vote." He said the opposition still has enough strength to at least force passage of a compromise if not defeat the bill.

Other opponents of the measure conceded that Willkie's approval will strengthen support for the Maloney substitute bill. This would defer conscription until Jan. 1, and only then to obtain enough men to make up any difference that may exist between the number required by the army and the number who voluntarily enlisted.

Wheeler said his forces are also dickering with the administration for several proposed substitute plans, chief of which would limit the scope of the conscription program to around 750,000 men, the full time strength of the regular army.

There was no indication that the

Germany Warns Britain About Parachute Troops

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—As an apparent prelude to attempted invasion, Nazi Germany today officially warned Great Britain against mistreatment of parachute soldiers.

Through Switzerland, the Reich government sent a formal note to London giving details of the uniforms and equipment of parachute jumpers, establishing them as members of the regular Nazi air force.

The note threatened most severe reprisals against men of the Royal air force in event Britain treats these parachute jumpers "contrary to international law."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Germany previously had warned French, Belgian and Dutch officials that parachute jumpers, as regular soldiers, must not be shot if taken prisoner. The warning originally was issued after charges were made that the jumpers landed in various disguises, placing them in the category of spies.)

Senator Nye Supports Willkie's Criticism Of F.D.R.'s Foreign Policy

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—In a formal statement attacking President Roosevelt's foreign policy as "fraught with danger," Sen. Nye (R.), N. D., a leader of the Senate's isolationist bloc today supported the criticisms of the chief executive made by Republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie in his acceptance speech Saturday.

He agreed with Willkie's charge that Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy has been "useless and dangerous" and has jeopardized the country's security. Nye also restated his opposition to the pending conscription bill, but added that, like Willkie, he was prepared to support some form of selective service.

Directed At Methods

Meanwhile, veteran observers of foreign affairs, analyzing Willkie's speech reported they could find no major points of division between the president's basic foreign policy and that approved by the Republican. Willkie's criticism of the president's

Home Guards Get German Bomber

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 19—Britain's volunteer organization of home guards were credited today with their first Nazi plane.

The Nazi ship had swooped low in an attempt to machine-gun the guardsmen.

German Planes In New Attacks In London Area

Berlin Report Claims Destruction Of 138 British Planes Yesterday

TOTAL BLOCKADE ORDER IS STRESSED

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—German raids and reconnaissance flights are in progress over England this morning, an official Berlin announcement said today.

The German planes are carrying a limited number of bombs and therefore small-scale attacks, especially against armament and airplane factories, barracks and military camps may be expected, the statement said.

The renewed assaults were announced after the German high command claimed destruction of 138 British planes and admitted loss of only 34 Nazi craft in yesterday's aerial warfare, which brought devastating raids to south London suburbs and to British airports, military centers and industrial cities.

Blast At London Area

Heaviest of the German blows were struck at the London region, where several airports on the outskirts of the British capital were blasted, it was announced. Important military objectives in Hampshire, Kent and the Portsmouth-Southampton district also were bombed, according to a communique.

Along with its claims of devastating air raids the German high command issued a warning to neutral nations that "all ships entering the newly-defined blockade zone around the British Isles will be attacked and destroyed."

A total of .38 inches of rain was reported at the U. S. Weather Observing Station located at the water works.

BERLIN CLAIMS REVERSE RECORD

"Delayed Bombs" Being Used By Germans Causing Damage

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 19—More German planes swept over Britain today, dropping showers of incendiary bombs on northeast England, as Britain claimed the greatest toll of German planes during the war after yesterday's massive attacks on the London area.

The British air ministry stated that at least 141 German planes were destroyed in yesterday's battles while only 16 British aircraft were lost, and that the pilots of eight of these planes were safe.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A Berlin announcement claimed 147 British planes had been destroyed and that only 36 German planes were lost.)

An hour later, more planes were reported over a southeastern coastal town.

One lone German, circling above a southeast town, dropped two bombs but both fell in open fields.

Anti-Aircraft Guns Go Into Action Against Foreign Planes Over Nation

(International News Service)

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 19.—Bombs were dropped on Switzerland during the night and anti-aircraft guns went into action against foreign planes which flew over the country, a Swiss general staff communique announced today.

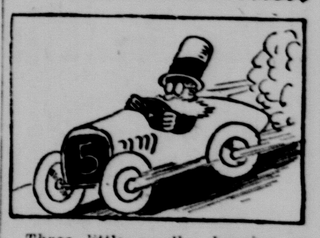

Little damage was caused by the bombs, the announcement stated.

Geneva, Aug. 19—Air raid alarms were sounded at Geneva, Basle and Zurich during the night and anti-aircraft batteries went into action as foreign planes soared over this country in what authorities today called "another intentional violation" of Swiss neutrality.

Official circles said they believed the planes were "probably British" machines enroute either to southern Germany or northern Italy.

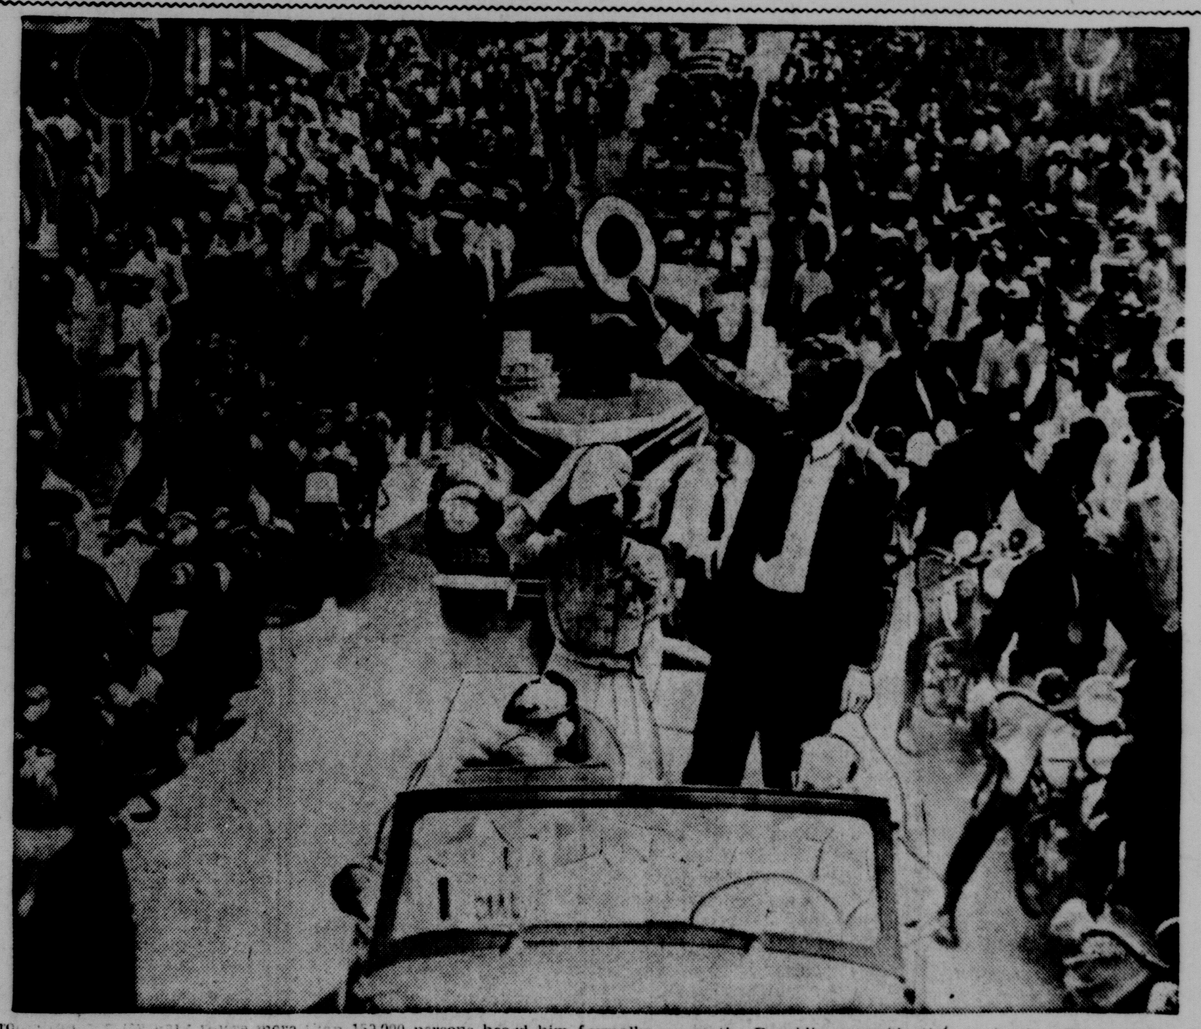

(Last week Switzerland formally protested to Britain against flights of British planes over Swiss territory.)

Britain Drops Leaflets Upon Italy

"HITLER TO BLAME FOR ITALY'S LOSSES

The leaflets, dropped among bombs, said:

"Presently British bombers have brought war to your hearts.

British Claim Plane Losses Of Nazis Over 1,000

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 19.—German airplane losses over and around Great Britain since the beginning of the war have now mounted to 1,028 planes, British circles claimed today.

Of this number, 960 German craft have been destroyed since the start of the main Nazi attacks, authorities said.

British aerial losses in the same area have amounted to 203 machines since the start of the war and 199 since the large-scale German raids began, it was claimed.

presidential nominee is formally accepting his designation on the ticket at Des Moines on Aug. 29. Mr. Roosevelt's letter accepting his cabinet resignation virtually outlined the speech Wallace will make on that date.

The president was back at his Hyde Park home today after having reached an agreement with Canadian Prime Minister MacKenzie King which amounted to a complete defensive alliance.

Following his weekend tour of the 1,500-square mile area in upper New York State where 94,000 troops of the first army are theoretically combatting a coalition of "eastern and western powers" who have landed a force in New England, the president engaged in a fateful conference aboard the private car of his special train with the Canadian war leader.

Joint Defense Board

The president and king issued a joint statement announcing that military leaders from both states would be formed into a joint defense board to undertake "immediate studies relating to sea, land and air problems."

It was regarded significant that this board is being charged with consideration of "personnel and material" in connection with anticipated defense of the North Atlantic.

Mr. Roosevelt has announced that the Washington government is in negotiation with London for acquisition of naval and air bases on British possessions ranging from New Foundland to Trinidad and British Giuana.

United States personnel of the defense board may include General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, navy chief of operations; Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps and Rear Admiral John Towers, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics.

SEN. NYE SUPPORTS WILLKIE'S STAND ON F. D. R. FOREIGN POLICY

handling of problems arising from the war seemingly were directed at his methods, rather than his viewpoint, these observers said.

"Wendell Willkie's acceptance address was a masterly job of clarifying the major issues before the country today," Nye said. "Some of us have been trying for months, with considerable success, to make it clear, through the hideous smoke screen of confusion which the administration has laid down, that national defense is one issue on which there is no debate.

Fraught With Danger

"But the foreign policy of the administration is something else entirely and is fraught with danger to ourselves, our national security and to the national defense program.

"He (the president) has courted a war for which the country is hopelessly unprepared—and which it emphatically does not want. He has secretly meddled in the affairs of Europe ,and he has even unscrupulously encouraged other countries to hope for more help than we are able to give.

"Willkie's remarks put the clincher on the whole argument. His vigorous and forthright condemnation of our foreign policy, while at the same time he called for an all-out national defense, ought to make the distinction between the two issues crystal clear."

Nye will continue his opposition to the pending draft bill but, like Willkie, will support some form of selective service. He did not specify what form, and urged that the country try to raise an adequate army by voluntary enlistments before resorting to any form of conscription.

"No one doubts the need for a large army," he said, "but more especially a better army. The debate is between two schools of thought on how to achieve that end."

community ordinarily selected for a major address in a presidential campaign but Willkie picked it, he says, because he once taught high school there and made many friends who have urged him since his nomination to deliver a speech there.

After Coffeyville he may make a swing out to the west coast and return, probably to Chicago, and then head south. This plan indicates that when he does speak in the east, the campaign will be well along toward its close.

Away from New York, where he maintains residence, for six weeks now, Willkie will slip back for a day late this week or possibly for the week-end but only for "personal reasons", he says, and then probably go on to Maine for a breathing spell before the Coffeyville speech.

Although he will pass through Massachusetts, and the district of Rep. Joe Martin, his national chairman, he is not planning to talk there or for that matter, anywhere in the east.

Aims At Farm Vote

The evidence to this point indicates that he is aiming for the present at the farm vote and balancing his Wall street background with a west and mid-west schedule.

It is significant that while he has talked with many farmers as individuals, in groups and at an 11-state conference in Des Moines, he has not held such conferences with business or industrial groups. His theory appears to be that he is already known to business and financial men and that it is to the farm men that he must sell himself.

If it is his plan, the Republican national committee must concur in it for Martin nodded his approval while Willkie was announcing the Coffeyville stand.

The exact date has not been selected but Willkie said that it would be in mid-September and the 14th appears a likely date. Because of lack of overnight accommodations for a large influx of visitors, the speech will be delivered in the afternoon as was the acceptance speech at Elwood.

Formal Reception

Today the Willkies were to be given a formal reception by Rush country residents and a non-partisan committee headed by Howard Ewbank, a farmer. In a sense, the reception was for Mrs. Willkie who is a native of Rushville, and the committee hoped to have in attendance a large number of her high school classmates.

The Rushville high school band augmented to 100 pieces for the day was the piece de resistance of the platform.

The Willkies attended services at the United Presbyterian church yesterday and heard the Rev. Frank Wiley preach on the text "He Leadeth Me", which had been selected last Sunday, quite by coincidence.

The candidate spent considerable time today going over the hundreds of telegrams which have come in since his acceptance speech of Saturday. Most of them, he said, commented favorably on the talk.

Willkie is still awaiting some reaction from Washington on his challenge to the president to debate the issues of the campaign in several major cities.

(Editor's Note: At his Hyde Park home, Mr. Roosevelt momentarily ignored Willkie's challenge to a series of face-to-face debates.)

was stated, and total sea warfare more intensive than the World war U-boat campaign is about to be launched.

Offer Made To Eire

An announcement said one German submarine returned to its ports claiming to have sunk 32,300 tons of British and neutral shipping.

In addition, Germany made an offer to Eire to guarantee the safety of Irish shipping provided the course and destination of Irish vessels was supplied to Berlin in advance.

The high command's communique of yesterday's attacks said:

"The German air force scored big successes in the London area and Hampshire. It attacked important military objectives, especially several airports close to London.

"Our airforce destroyed 23 British planes on the ground....and 115 enemy planes were shot down in air battles."

Official sources expanding on the communique said 13 airports in the London region were attacked and that seven barrage balloons were shot down.

POLICE SURPRISE TRIO IN STORE ROBBERY; ALL THREE CAPTURED

stayed in front of the store and Logan went to the rear of the market.

Officers Welsh and Nelson arrived in another police car at the rear of the store in Apple way. Reese and Nelson saw someone in the store. Nelson went to the front with Reese and Welsh stayed with Logan. Nelson and Reese ordered the man they saw in the store to come out.

When he did not emerge, Reese and Nelson broke in the front door. The man ran toward the rear of the store. Reese fired a shot at him and he hid behind a counter. When captured and handcuffed he proved to be Kalim George, of this city, police say.

Meanwhile, Officer Dan Williams who reported over the telephone at five a. m., was ordered to the store. He was assigned to watch both Ross and George, already under arrest.

Acting Lieutenant D. J. Thomas and Officers Reese and Thomas Boyle took the two prisoners to police headquarters.

Saw Two In Store

Officer Clarence Welsh asserted he had seen two men in the store and, with Officer Williams entered the market. They found Berger alias Edwards lying on the floor beneath a table in the rear.

When searched, Berger was said to have $34.00 in quarters and dimes on his person. He was taken to police headquarters and later, Officer Reese found a H & R .32 revolver hidden in a pile of canteloupes.

Later the police discovered a Ford coupe with Ohio license ZP96 parked in the rear of the old Cook garage. Police claim the license was issued to Fred Snyder, Wellington, O., for a Plymouth. Reportedly it was stolen Tuesday night in Youngstown.

Earlier On South Side

Leo Butkowski, 23 East Long avenue told police at 11:25 p.m. Saturday that, he had seen several men near a truck at the rear of the Joseph Market, at Long avenue and Howard way.

When they started to leave, Butkowski said he sent a small boy to Joseph's Market to tell them someone was tampering with their truck. An attache of the store came out and Butkowski told him this.

Butkowski reported he walked toward his house. Suddenly one of the men he saw at the truck, poked a revolver against his back. (He later identified the man as Berger alias Edwards, police claim.)

"He ordered me to go with him," Butkowski told police. Butkowski said he took his time. His father came out of the house, seized a club and threatened to strike the man later identified as Berger.

Butkowski's mother and sister started toward them. Leo warned them to stay away.

"I turned toward them and told them in Polish," Butkowski told police "stay back because 'this man has a gun on me'." Butkowski described the gun as nickle plated.

"My sister told the man to leave and I would not say anything," Butkowski reported to police. A big crowd from the Joseph's Market had come out by this time. "I told the man" Butkowski stated 'to go ahead and I won't say anything' I walked toward the rear porch of my home. He walked up Howard alley and away."

The police were notified. They went to the scene but failed to find the men who allegedly had been around the Joseph's truck and threatened Butkowski with a revolver.

Finds Filled Sacks

After the trio had been captured in the store Acting Lieutenant D. J. Thomas inspected the market. He discovered 12 sacks filled with foodstuffs of all kinds, cigarettes and candy.

Ross, Detective Chief Criswell stated is 23, and resides at 19 East Maitland street.

George is 29, and resides at 1116 South Jefferson street.

Berger alias Edwards is 29, and recently stayed at Rayen avenue, Youngstown.

According to police, all three have served time and Berger was said to have only been released from the state prison at Bellefonte in March after having served time for alleged hold-ups. He was born in Pittsburgh.

All of the trio were quizzed Sunday by Police Chief W. G. McMullen, Chief of Detectives R. A. Criswell and Detectives John Moore and Plainclothesman Robert Hanna.

According to a statement secured from one of the trio Berger took the car found here in a Youngstown driveway, Tuesday night.

It was Berger who allegedly suggested the robbery after which Ross was assigned to act as the South Mercer street look-out, police assert. Berger, it was said, broke the rear window. George and he entered the place, filled the sacks with foodstuffs worth about $400.00, store officials claim, and were ready to leave when the police arrived, according to police reports.

Entrance to the store was made by Berger and George police say through what they described as a "window" but which actually is a small door leading to the furnace room. This was pried open, police asserted.

NAZIS RENEW BOMB ATTACKS DESPITE LOSSES

in London, exploded last night and early today. Dwelling houses and other property were damaged, but there were no casualties.

Between 75 and 100 incendiary bombs were dropped by one raider alone in an attack on northeast England but most of them fell in fields and woodlands.

While Royal air force bombers again raided both Germany and Italy, it was officially announced that 141 German planes were destroyed in the furious fighting yesterday. Fighter planes brought down 126 in aerial combat. Another 13 were brought down by anti-aircraft fire, and two by searchlight crews. Only 22 British craft are missing, the announcement said.

Parachute To Safety

Ten R. A. F. pilots managed to parachute to safety although their machines were destroyed, it was said.

Meanwhile, gangs of workmen aided air raid precaution crews in repairing the damages caused by yesterday's raids on south London suburbs, and local funds were started to provide housing for those left homeless by the attacks.

No less than 600 German bombers raided the London region in two great attacks yesterday, but these massive assaults were met by fierce opposition and got no further than the suburbs around Croydon and the region over the Thames estuary, British authorities said.

Although with considerably diminished intensity, German raiders during the night and early this morning struck at Britain's southeast coastal region. London circles expressed the opinion that the heavy losses claimed to have been inflicted on the German raiders yesterday was responsible for the decreased intensity of the attacks.

The worst obstacle to defense is politics. If you like Roosevelt, we are arming at top speed; if you dislike him, nothing is being done right.

cars and newspaper cars. Over 1000 police were in the job and they did a fine job of handling the crowd.

"Despite the heat of the day the crowd was in good humor and it looked like all the county fairs of a state rolled into one. Everywhere you went there was a crowd and the temporary restaurants put up in Callaway Park did a rushing business. Those of us on the special train got our meals there.

"The trip was well worth the time and effort. Callaway Park was a sight with that immense throng of people and I saw no disorder and almost no evidence of drinking. It was a holiday crowd there to hear their candidate accept the nomination and they made the most of it.

"When the ceremonies were over the special trains began pulling out five minutes apart and for hours there was a heavy passenger movement over the railroads. When all the automobiles got out I wouldn't have any idea."

isolationists would consent to a vote on the bill or a substitute this week. Confident that the country does not want peacetime conscription, they are reyling chiefly on speech-making in the senate to create national opposition.

Maloney announced his substitute bill is still open to modification. In addition to increasing the army enlistment pay from $21 to $30 a month a provision already approved by the senate, it would direct the war department to concentrate on one year as well as the standard three-year enlistment periods.

Maloney is considering changing the possible conscription date under his bill from January to March to allow more time for voluntary enlistments.

HARD WORK

Hard work is a priceless asset. There is physical hard work as well as mental. The man who creates or directs may find at the journey's end as great a fatigue as the one who does hard physical labor.

Everyone should learn to work—to create something. The greatest satisfaction that any worker can have is to know that the job is well done. Earn your way—don't be a drag on the push of someone else. The ability to handle a task well is a treasure that only comes through the doing and the joy of serving.

A NATION OF FIFTY MILLION VOTERS

ACCORDING to the political statisticians, the popular vote for President this year should pass the fifty million mark for the first time. While the regular increase in the number of qualified voters over a four-year period usually means the casting of more ballots, there have been exceptions.

In 1904 there were nearly half a million fewer votes than in 1900. The 1896 vote was also larger than that of 1904, when Theodore Roosevelt ran against Judge Parker and the electorate expected the resulting walkover for the Republican candidate.

Many can remember when only about one qualified voter in three took the trouble to go to the polls. The proportion of those appreciating the franchise has since been steadily rising. Perhaps the fate of dictatorship-ruled peoples has caused more of our citizens to realize what it means to live in a true democracy where the wishes of the majority can be made effective at the ballot box.

GREENLAND TO TRADE HERE

Little Greenland and her 20,000 inhabitants do not form a great world market which would attract a hulla-baloo as they come to America to trade, but in view of Greenland's location between Europe and Canada, the fact the former Danish dependency is coming into our orbit is important.

Since the Nazis took over Denmark, Greenland has been ruled by Eske Brun, governor of North Greenland, and Askel Svane, governor of South Greenland, Governor Brun has been in New York with a Greenland Trade Commission and he announces that he has virtually succeeded in replacing the markets lost in Europe with agreements made in Canada and the United States.

The amount of this trade will not be large. Chief export of the island is cryolite, a mineral used in manufacture of aluminum and glass. It constitutes three quarters of the export products of Greenland, and a year's production is worth about a million and a half dollars. Imports are smaller than that figure.

The attraction of this trade to the Western Heemisphere means, however, that sympathy of Greenland will turn to America increasingly as time goes on. Any Nazi move toward Canada via Greenland would reasonably be reported by the island to Ottawa and any surprise element would be removed.

Incidentally, Brun doesn't think Greenland would be on the path of aerial invaders. He said establishment of air bases there would be almost impossible because of the terrain. That's comforting news.

BRITAIN'S AIR TEST

It is plain as Nazi planes increasingly darken the skies over England that the test for the British Isles is one of endurance. The blitzkrieg thrust across the Channel by boat has not eventuated and may not soon. The apparent objective is to strike with a gradually growing number of planes to shake up Britain's factories, sink its ships, make its ports untenable, occupy the defending air force 100 per cent and decimate it.

There can be in the German plan a scheme to seize Ireland and possibly Iceland with parachute troops to give the Nazis landing fields completely surrounding England.

Just as Britain's fleet bore the brunt of German attack in the first stages of the war, so now the Royal Air Force has to prove its mettle and its staying powers against a foe that outnumbers it.

This style of attack will lack a lot of offering the excitement to the German people that the blitzkrieg against France did. It may not bolster their hope for an early end of the war and a return to normal living. And if the Hitler air war does not make important contributions toward a conquest of England, the German dictator will be up against the proposition of doing something sensational speedily or of meeting the menace of declining favor at home.

OUT OF SHANGHAI

Great Britain's withdrawal of troops from Shanghai not only leaves the United States holding the bag but definitely marks the confusion of the British Empire before Japan's impudence in China. It is reported that the 1,500 soldiers taken from Shanghai will be stationed at Hong Kong, the British town which is now Britain's last stand in China.

It was nearly forty years ago that the Boxers started their campaign of China for the Chinese. All the powers then pushed into China to break up the Boxers and, having done so, stationed troops at pivotal points to maintain order. One by one the powers later withdrew from the policing job until only four bodies of foreign troops could be found at Shanghai—the British, the American, the French and the Japanese.

Now the French troops are not in a position to enforce anything; the British have quit; and Japanese and American soldiers are holding job the job alone. It appears almost inevitable that they should clash

Whether such a clash may be the spark to start a Japanese-American war or not, this latest move signifies that Britain is beating a retreat in China and, for the Occident, America is holding the fort in the Orient by itself.

German is to be the universal language in conquered France, Hitler has ordered. Already a lot of Frenchmen have learned to say "ja."

The understandable comment of Louis Mezzo, Canadian trapper, upon returning to civilization in Flin Flon, Manitoba, and learning for the first time that a European war had been in progress for almost a year was: "Well, I'll be dam!"

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

REMEMBERING LESSONS ONCE LEARNED

Sometimes we suppose we have forgot everything we ever learned at school. But we haven't. Though some of it cannot be recalled at the moment, some can; after a little practice, all may be. We don't forget nearly so much as we think we do.

Perhaps we never entirely forget anything we once memorized. Oh, yes, at the moment we try to recall it we may fail, but at some later, more favorable time, it may flash into the mind. Often this happens at the time we need it least. Nevertheless, the very fact that it came back at all is proof that it was not entirely forgotten.

How Much We Remembered

Some years ago Mrs. Myers and I published in the American Journal of Psychology a research, "Reconstructive Recall." Each of us wrote down at regular intervals, over a period of several months, all that could be recalled of selections memorized years before but partially or almost entirely forgot in the meanwhile.

During the months over which we tried to dig out of our memories what seemed to have been forgotten, we did not see the original selections nor have any help. All we reconstructed was from our own heads. Through this long, persistent effort at recall we were able to reconstruct from about twenty to eighty per cent of what at first appeared to have been wholly forgotten. We have no doubt that if we had had the persistence to continue at this task over several more months or years, practically all of the selections would have been recalled.

Practice Frequently

Of course, for our recalls to be most useful we must be able to make them when we want them. In order to do this we need to keep our memories alive by frequent practice and recalls.

The permanence of skills is more apparent. Only a few weeks ago I discovered that some of my skills at handling hay, learned years ago, still persisted.

The next-farm neighbor to where the Myers family spend most of their summers was almost killed by the front feet of a vicious horse, so my youngest son and I volunteered to make hay for him. I was proud of the skill with which I could pitch hay.

Applied to such skills in arithmetic, spelling and typing, the quality of skill one has at any age depends not so much on the quantity of practice as the quality of it, the degree of accuracy in the early steps of getting this skill. Such school skills as the child will want to use all his life are most useful when learned with precision. This is why I so often urge that the child learn the simple addition and subtraction facts by heart, and without error, early; and that those who still have trouble with these basic items in arithmetic be encouraged to master them at once. The task is easy, if intelligently attacked.

In case you wish to have a copy of the 100 addition facts and the 100 subtraction facts for your child to memorize this summer, write me, at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Whether your child is in the ninth, fifth or second grade, he may still need to learn these foundation items in arithmetic, if he ever is to succeed in this subject. A good way for the child to learn them is to attack only four or five of them a day, copying these from the sheet and learning them as mechanically as if he were learning to spell.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Suppose a child, at the age of eight, twelve, or fifteen threw a book across the floor in rage. What should you do?

A. Bite your tongue or do anything else to keep silent and appear serene. Under no condition should you command the child to pick up the book—if you want to get best results. Several hours later when there seems to be no wall btween you and the child you might say to him in a gentle way that he probably would like to manage himself better next time. He gets awfully mad, seeing that he wants to have many friends. The child have been so persuasive as to cause him to ask how he might effect improvement, you have scored a great victory; so has he.

Q. You see crayon marks on the wall and suppose your two-year-old tot made them. Would you ask the child if he did it?

A. I hope I would not so tempt him to lie. I should spend considerable time and patience at helping him enjoy only the correct use of the crayons. I should not leave the child alone with the crayons until he had learned to use them properly.

FAILURE

When I grow peevish over care
And into fits of temper fly
O'er crosses which I ought to bear
Disguested with myself am I.

When irritation I display
And look with anger's flashing eyes
On hurts I ought to laugh away,
Myself I thoroughly despise.

Though others pass the tantrum by
'Tis something which I can't forget
It bothers me to think that I
Can be so easily upset.

When to some real or fancied wrong
Up to my best I've failed to live;
For being weak instead of strong
Myself I never quite forgive.

Yes, Isabel, I will gladly add to yours my own protest against this too common form of brutality. Within the past week while passing through a pleasure park where many picnickers were gathered I heard a woman, whose face was stamped with cruelty, threaten a child about three in these words: "I'll crack you in the mouth if you don't stop that."

Any psychologist will testify to the extend to which children are developed into nervous wrecks by rough treatment and rough language, which their childish minds know to be undeserved.

A serious form of neuraesthenia manifested throughout life in chronic apprehension results from threats to innocent children inflicted by parents, teachers or nurses during moments of impatience or anger. It is but another phase of the brutality shown by those who unjustly beat their horses or dogs just because they themselves are in an abnormal condition of mind.

Reader's Questions Answered

Question: I should like to give a shower for a very dear friend. What are duties?—Peggie.

Answer: You should plan the shower entirely....decide upon the time, place and the type of shower. You should suggest the kind of gifts for the guest's to present—linen, kitchen, miscellaneous, etc.

If the shower is held in your own home in the afternoon, you might serve tea, sandwiches and cake. If it is held in the evening (men may then be invited) you may serve a midnight supper. Aside from the presentation of gifts, it may be conducted like any other party.

If your home is not large enough for entertaining numerous guests, hire a private room in a tearoom or hotel and have a catered meal served. Make all of your arrangements with the manager several weeks in advance of the event.

Thoughts that change the souls of men;
Comes a light that all shall see.
For 'tis the truth that sets men free.
Now have come that time and light
So attend these words I write—
Though men rave of righteous hate
Only Friendship's truly great!

What were truth without that soul
Who is one great purpose whole,
Who shall dare to be or nought,
Of one beauteous burning thought
With such thought I am possest,
It is flame within my breast
So attend me while I shout
This great truth man dies without—
Though men rave of righteous hate
Only friendship's truly great!

If your bosom holds a heart
If 'mong men you'd play your part
If you are not lost to song
If you still would right one wrong
If God has some need of you
If you also need Him too,
If you are not wholly dead.
Or on emptly vapors fed
If you have not sunk so low
That you care not where you go
If you are of flesh and blood
And your veins do not run mud—
Hear me, hear me, hear me through
Whatsoever else you do—
Though men rave of righteous hate.
Only Friendships truly great.

Burke And Holt Noisy Lame Ducks
Act More Like Fighting Game Cocks
Both Ardent Anti-New Dealers Now

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Edward R. Burke of Nebraska and Rush D. Holt of West Virginia are senatorial "lame ducks." That is to say, they were defeated in their respective states for Democratic renominations to the upper congressional chamber. Just now they're serving out the fag ends of their expiring terms, until the new year comes in.

Thus, technically they're lame ducks, but they certainly behave more like thoroughly able-bodied roosters.

Senator Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota also was beaten for a Republican renomination. He's quite subdued, however, as a lame duck is supposed to be. Far be it from Senators Burke and Holt, though, to manifest the least sign of recognition of the fact that their senatorial days are numbered.

Senator Burke was one of the authors of the conscription bill originally introduced in congress. It's known as the Burke-Wadsworth bill, Representative James W. Wadsworth having been the Nebraskan's partner in drafting it. It's a trifle odd that Burke, a Democrat, and Wadsworth, a Republican, should have teamed up on the conscription proposition, but old-fashioned party lines don't mean much in Washington at present.

At any rate, Burke, of course, is a 100 per cent conscriptionist. But Holt isn't. He's 100 per cent the other way.

That's another funny thing. Burke was licked for renomination presumably at least in part because he was a conscriptionist. Holt was licked at least partly because he wasn't one.

Both Anti-New Dealers

Maybe the circumstance that they're both Democratic anti-New Dealers also had something to do with their lickings. The New Deal's political campaign managers would like to think so. They were highly gratified by the pair's beatings in the Nebraska and West Virginia primaries.

They were pleased because Burke and Holt, alike, have vigorously fought President Roosevelt's policies in the senate.

Burke doubtless has been a worse headache to the White House than Holt, for the reason that the former generally rates as a heavier weight than the latter. The West Virginian is as vitriolic as anybody ever to arrive on Capitol Hill, but he's been somewhat discounted as mainly "sound and fury," signifying very little.

Holt will be remembered as having been elected at so early an age that he barely skimmed into the senate, after a little delay, in conformity with constitutional requirements. Consequently, it's as a "baby statesman" that he's classified, which always is a handicap. Burke, on the opposite hand, always has been taken seriously.

The Nebraskan has plenty of ability. I wouldn't say that Holt hasn't also, but it hasn't had time to mature as much as Burke's has.

Senator Norris' Influence

It unquestionably was hard luck for Burke, in his unsuccessful fight for renomination, that George W. Norris was his fellow senator from the Cornhusker commonwealth.

George Norris is approximately Nebraska's patron saint and he's an ardent New Dealer, though he wears an Independent, not a Democratic label. The chances are that lots of Nebraskans cast their primary ballots against Burke principally because he differed from "Uncle George" on New Deal issues.

Burke, as previously remarked, is an exceedingly war-like lame duck. Still, he's dignified.

Holt emits some downright violent language. Furthermore, he provokes various other senators to really vituperative cracks at himself. The recent slang slinging debate between himself and Senator Sherman Minton another Democrat) of Indiana was a case in point. Holt referred to the conscriptionists as "dollar patriots." Minton said that Holt belonged to a "slacker family." Holt replied that Minton was a "malicious liar."

This kind of conversation, on the senate floor, verges on the unparliamentary. And there was more of it.

The "lame ducks" are singing their "swan song," to be sure, but it's martial music.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ONLY CONTEMPT

Hitler told the British people he would destroy them unless they made peace at once on his terms. He offered neither reasons nor terms—only the threat of frightfulness undreamed of. He demanded a personal reply from Prime Minister Churchill, declaring he would spare England from her doom only long enough to receive the reply of the head of England's government.

When Winston Churchill appeared before the House of Commons two days later, all Germany hung upon his words; all Nazidom and Hitler. Churchill spoke briefly and calmly. But he said no word in direct reply to Hitler. He ignored him as though he were a puppy yapping at the surf of English shores. Of such a statesman, the American philosopher Emerson wrote: "A determined man by his very attitude and the tone of his voice puts a stop to defeat and begins to conquer."

It can hardly be doubted that Churchill's silence was far more thunderous, in its impact on both British and German nerves, than was the menacing outburst of Hitler. The studied contempt of the statesman for self-styled master of Europe was a tonic for British hearers and it made the I-demand-an-answer post of a defeated Fuehrer seem more than a bit ridiculous in the eyes of all the world—and of all Germans who understand that rather peculiar things known as English humor.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

A lad we know had gone to progressive schools until his eleventh year. Under this modern technique, he had been taught to define things mainly in terms of experience, with a minimum of book definitions. Transferred to a public school, he was given his lesson to study and later called to account by a stern teacher, who said, "John, please rise and give us the definition of a river." The lad was puzzled and tongue-tied. Finally, he muttered, "Nuts! Everybody knows what a river is," and walked out. He was in bad trouble. They dragged him back and rubbed his nose in a geography book.

Most of us, no doubt, think we know what a river is, but perhaps we have been mistaken, judging from the new river consciousness of our country. Books about American rivers keep rollin' along, in a tide started, I believe, by Ben Burman a few years ago in his saga of the Mississippi. The latest is "The Delaware," by Harry Emerson Wildes, a highly entertaining and informing tale of this noble stream.

We occasionally have noted in this corner the rediscovery of America during the last few years. There has been more delving into Americana, more scouting of old forgotten trails than in all the last century. The unending series of a river books is a valid exhibit.

Recently we were re-reading Kipling's long poem, "The River." He strings English history on this meandering stream, like beads in a necklace. One cannot read this poem without feeling that the actual, sensuous, physical, visual and long-experienced love of a homeland will build a stouter heart for its defense than anything put down i nthe books about political system or abstractions of fealty and patriotism. Therefore we put in a word for the river books and all the other explorations of our past. We'll fight more readily and fight harder for something seen, loved and understood than for anything out of a book.

Once upon a time, this country was so rich and so safe—or seemed to be—that it could afford to regard hot political campaigns as primarily good public entertainment. This being true, the winner in a debate was quite apt to be the man who was best at savage invective.

Our old-line politicians were good at this. There were insults and name-calling which left never a dull moment in the debate. People would drive a buckboard thirty miles over muddy roads for a set-to like this. Perhaps the issues were obscured by the intemperate language. But we could afford it. We were a big, free, rich country and we could write off waste and take up slack.

Can we do so now? Wendell L.

U.S.-Canada Joint Board For Defense

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 19.—President Roosevelt moved today to set up the American section of the United States-Canadian joint board of defense so an initial meeting could be held early next week.

Over the telephone, Mr. Roosevelt canvassed officials of the state, war and navy departments in Washington seeking their suggestions on personnel. He promised to name the United States members by Thursday.

Arrangements for this permanent defensive alliance between the two major North American states were reached over the week end at an Ogdensburg, N. Y., railroad siding conference between President Roosevelt and Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

Pulaski Minister Asks For Release

Rev. Luther MacDonald, Presbyterian Pastor, To Go To Washington Presbytery

Rev. Luther McDonald, pastor of the Pulaski Presbyterian church, resigned and requested the congregation of his church to concur with him in requesting the Shenango Presbytery to release him by October 1, during the morning service on Sunday. Rev. McDonald will accept a call to a church in Washington Presbytery.

During Rev. McDonald's pastorate at Pulaski, the church has undergone extensive repairs and the membership has steadily increased. He has, also, been most active in community, as well as religious enterprises. He was president of the Pulaski Memorial committee and Sabbath School association, a member of the Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts and held other important offices in local and county work. The Pulaski Boy Scout troop and Presbyterian Brotherhood were organized by Rev. McDonald.

One of the distinguishing features of his work was preparing for the centennial of the church in 1937. Hundreds witnessed the historic pageant which was a contribution from his pen. He has written a number of successful pageants and is constantly being consulted by organizations planning historic gatherings. Rev. McDonald was selected by the Federation of Churches in Youngstown, recently, to design and supervise the church float in the Northwest parade.

Rev. McDonald's new field in the historic section of Washington Presbytery will offer new and fascinating opportunities for continued activity along these lines.

Landmark Burns Near Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—Damage was officially estimated at $8000 today in the aftermath of a fire at nearby Speeceville which leveled a 170-year-old hotel whose history was "known from coast to coast."

The two-and-a-half story frame building was built in 1770 and became a rendezvous for "Lewis the Robber," who roamed the surrounding countryside from 1805 to 1815 robbing the rich to give to the poor. He was hanged at Bellefonte in 1820.

Water rose to a depth of two and three feet at Laplace and Chauncey streets and police warned 400 families in the immediate neighborhood to evacuate their homes immediately if the water went up any higher.

BAN SCHOOL SWASTIKAS

PORTLAND, Ore.—For 20 years deserving students of Woodstock school in Portland have received on their merit cards two swastikas—symbol of good luck. A perturbed parent recently called attention to the hooked cross.

School administrators lost no time in waiving prior rights to the swastikas and tossing the remaining supply in the ash heap. New merit cards will bear only the American flag.

Knox's Paper To Support Willkie

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—The Chicago Daily News, published by President Roosevelt's secretary of the navy, Col. Frank Knox, today announced its support of Wendell L. Willkie for the presidency.

In a front page editorial the newspaper said that Willkie's speech of acceptance at Elwood, Ind., Saturday "reassures this nation, as it serves notice on the world, that no matter who is elected next November, there will be a firm continuity in matters pertaining to our foreign policy and our national defense." Col. Knox in 1936 was the Republican nominee for vice president.

The Human Side Of The News

Willkie thinks not. He insists that this year's campaign cut out smearing and name-calling and devote itself earnestly to real issues perhaps more pressing than we have ever faced before. Amen in this corner.

Perhaps Mr. Willkie himself does not realize what a startling innovation he has proposed. He has challenged a venerable axiom of hard-eye, crafty old back-room politics. There isn't an old journeyman politician anywhere who won't tell you that the first rule of politics is to arouse people against something rather than to try to stir a generous interest for something.

"Pick your goat and kick him in the ribs—that's politics," a shrewd old ally of Tom Taggart once told this writer.

It is an amateur politician who challenges this old stand-by. Amateurs seem to have a greater capacity for belief than professionals. We have one thing in common we can all believe in America. In this affirmation we can be temperate and honest. We are perhaps fortunate in having a gifted amatuer at hand to "challenge an axiom," the axiom that hatred and slander are the best political weapons. And heaven knows, this challenge is needed.

Bullitt Sees America In Danger From Hitler

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19. — America today faces the same peril of invasion and conquest by Germany that France did a year ago, in the opinion of William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France.

If Great Britain is defeated, the United States is next on Adolf Hitler's list, Bullitt, speaking beside historic Independence Hall in Philadelphia, almost within the shadow of the Liberty Bell, declared at a patriotic rally sponsored by the American Philosophical society.

In an address which apparently bore state department approval, Bullitt urged his listeners to deluge Congress with requests that a conscription bill be enacted and that General John J. Pershing's plea for 50 destroyers for Great Britain be granted.

In a full and frank appraisal of the debacle of France as he witnessed it, Bullitt declared that agents of the dictators were already preparing the United States for invasion. Any contary opinions were merely "wishful thinking," Bullitt asserted.

"America is in danger," the ambassador declared.

"It is my conviction, drawn from my own experience and from the information in the hands of our government in Washington, that the United States is in as great a peril today as was France a year ago.

"IT'S THOSE EXTRA MILES PER HOUR THAT COUNT WITH ME"

says WILBUR SHAW—

3-Time Winner of the 500-Mile Speed Classic

"AND IT'S THOSE EXTRAS OF SLOWER BURNING I LIKE ABOUT CAMEL CIGARETTES"

SLIPPERY TURNS at 120 miles per hour! Hub to hub duels at 150! For 500 blistering, nerve-wracking miles—laboratory equivalent of 50,000 normal highway driving miles. Yes, it's America's most thrilling classic of auto speed. It's also a proving ground of your safer and more efficient car of tomorrow. For the aerodynamic design, high-compression motor, alloy pistons, the safety glass of your car today had their testing at the hands of these daring men. And, three times, Wilbur Shaw (above) has come through with the extra degree of mechanical perfection—the extra daring and extra skill—that wins. He has the "extras"... he appreciates the extras ... in cigarettes, too. Camels give the extras. Wilbur Shaw smokes Camels.

WITH WILBUR SHAW—with millions of others—the "extras" in slower-burning Camels are the difference between just smoking and smoking pleasure at its best. Cigarettes that burn fast, burn hot. And excess heat destroys flavor—makes your smoke flat, harsh. Light up a Camel ... the slow-burning cigarette of costlier tobaccos ... and get the "extras"—including extra smoking (see right).

Bible Conference At Tabernacle Ends

Homecoming Services At Calvary Gospel Tabernacle To Be Held This Week

The fifth annual summer Bible conference has closed and homecoming week has opened at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle on the East Side.

On Sunday evening a large crowd gathered at the tabernacle to hear Evangelist Dan McNally tell his life story, "From Crime to Christ". In the afternoon, hundreds witnessed the baptismal service conducted by Mr. McNally and Rev. R. J. Fredericks at Spear's private beach along the Neshannock near East Brook station. After a song and preaching service, 32 people were baptised.

During the conference, the following speakers were heard: Rev. G. G. Berry of Hudson Falls, N. Y.; Rev. O. E. Philips of Washington, D. C.; Rev. Ralph Stoll of Altoona, Marmion L. Lowe of Bible School Park, N. Y., and Mr. McNally of Baltimore, Md.

This week, on Tuesday, an ordination service for Merle Watkins and Arthur Maxwell will be held. The annual picnic will be held in Memorial park, Grove City, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, and homecoming services will be held Thursday and Friday evenings by the young people who have gone out from the tabernacle to Bible institutes for training in full-time Christian work.

N.Y.A. Patrols Are Saving Forests

Number Of Forest Fires Is Reduced By Work Of Fire Patrols

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—Pennsylvania's national youth administration forest fire patrols, at work in seven central counties since March, have appreciably reduced the annual number of forest conflagrations and are saving the commonwealth thousands of dollars, according to reports of the state department of forests and waters.

In Northumberland County NYA patrols have so far this summer extinguished more than 30 potential fires. Last year the number of fires occurring in this area was well over 70.

District foresters attribute this reduction to detection and prevention work of the NYA youth and the educational campaign being carried out by NYA under the direction of the department.

NYA patrols were inaugurated this year as an experiment in a campaign for a continuous assault on the forest fire menace. The dual purpose of the patrols is to eliminate fire hazards and to carry on an educational campaign.

Members of the patrols are given intensive training by district foresters in forestry, wild-life, fire prevention, and fire fightng. Ths training include class-room lectures as well as field trips. The youth work in teams and patrol certain designated areas, making complete reports on their trips which are then studied by the district foresters.

Many Tributes To Memory Of Walter Chrysler

Auto Magnate Is Taken By Death At Home On Long Island

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Leaders of the nation's great automobile industry today paid tribute to the genius of their colleague Walter P. Chrysler whose death ended another typical American success story of a poor boy who became rich and famous.

Messages praising Chrysler's organizational ability, inventive genius and dynamic sales ability poured in from competitor and collaborator alike at the 16-acre suburban estate at Great Neck, Long Island, where Chrysler died at 6:50 p. m. yesterday. He was 65.

Funeral services for Chrysler who began his career as a nickel-an-hour locomotive wiper but at his death was chairman of the board of the Chrysler Corporation, will be held at St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal church at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick Underwood will officiate. Burial will be in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y., with only members of the immediate family present.

Chrysler died of a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been in failing health since the spring of 1938. He remained as chairman of the board of the corporation bearing his name but since 1935 had played a retiring role. In that year he was succeeded as president by K. T. Keller.

Attorneys appearing for him in litigation revealed about 10 days ago that his condition was then critical. He had been able to move about in a wheel chair until last Thursday when his physicians ordered him confined to his bed.

Stringent Military Regulations Are Imposed In All Parts Of Britain

LONDON, Aug. 19—All parts of Great Britain were placed under stringent military regulations today to combat an attempted Nazi invasion from whatever direction it might come.

The ministry of home security announced that the entire nation was placed within the scope of defense regulations and that regional defense commissioners had been given all powers necessary to ensure cooperation with military authorities and to take any measures to cope with an attempted invasion by air or by sea.

The communique emphasized this newest defense measure was purely precautionary and would not mean further restrictions upon public freedom. It will however, enable the defense commissioners to act promptly should the need arise.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MATERNITY INSTRUCTION

I am an advocate of definite courses of instruction in high schools, and corresponding schools, that will prepare girls for future motherhood. I think the courses should be made compulsory. Such instruction, properly organized and conducted, would be by far the most important study in the school girl's curriculum.

The need for such courses has grown in recent years. A generation ago, when families were larger, with six or more children the rule, a great many girls got practical courses in child care and the mechanics of maternity in their own homes. In fact, if the oldest child happened to be a girl, she often did more actual handling of the younger babies than the mother.

But these days, families of one or two or three are the rule, and one result is that our girls are growing up with no practical knowledge of babies and how to look after them. I know of girls having babies before they knew how to "change" a baby let alone bathe and generally care for one.

The trend in modern schools has been toward fitting studies more closely to the needs and lives of young people. They are taught trades, they are taught economics, politics and sociology, and their social senses are cultivated, but unfortunately most girls aren't taught motherhood. Modern mothers can't get along very well equipped with just love and fond hopes. They need practical training and advanced information. The best time for them to acquire these, I think, is at the high school age.

What is really needed is for us to put the whole business of motherhood on a definite, professional basis. It is a profession. It is the finest, noblest and most vital of the professions. Nearly every girl must look forward to being a mother. Obviously we can make her a better and happier mother if we give her the opportunity to have training in the profession.

I know, if I am still around when the Quintuplets are old enough for it, they will certainly get an exact training in looking after babies. What is more natural than to expect that they will become wives and mothers.

Indications that the rural school term openings are near at hand can be seen in the renewed activity about County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling's office. The rural school openings are now only two weeks away, and some of them may possibly get started during the last week of August, if they follow past customs.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Babies are, by tradition, clean and sweet-smelling.

Many babies do not approach such a state of perfection.

These are given to vomiting sour, partially digested milk.

Such vomiting causes much anxiety to parents.

Why do so many babies vomit?

Improper feeding technique is the most important factor.

Improper food is another cause of vomiting.

Gastrointestinal tract obstruction often causes vomiting.

Infection, disturbances of the nervous system, are other causes.

Air swallowing, also allergy, contribute much to this disorder.

The cause of the vomiting should be ascertained and treated.

Mild vomiting is not serious; a major degree is cause for concern.

Special music, including several vocal selections will feature the service.

Rush Plans For Huge New Warship

Workers Operate Day And Night To Complete Largest Battle Wagon

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Workers at the Philadelphia Navy Yard operating in day and night shifts, are pressing toward another "first" in battleship construction under the National preparedness program.

The 35,000 ton Washington, launched June 1, was the largest vessel ever constructed on the Delaware River and when completed will be the most powerful craft in the U. S. Navy. The mammoth battle wagon was finished one month ahead of schedule, in a friendly race between this Yard and the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where a sister ship, the North Carolina, was built.

Now plans are being rushed for building the 45,000 ton New Jersey larger than any warship afloat in the world. At the rate materials are being assembled, it looks as though Philadelphia will be under the wire first.

(The British battle cruiser Hood, displacing 42,500 tons is the biggest fighting ship on the sea today. However, Japan is reportedly building battleships of 45,000 tons. If this is true, Nipponese and American boats will outweigh those of all other nations.

Fewer persons lost their lives in railroad accidents in 1939 than in any year since the inter-state commerce commission began the compilation of these reports in 1888.

Rome Claims British Are Evacuating Berbera

Assert Troops Are Embarking

Italian Quarters Claim Successes In Somaliland Campaign

BITTER REARGUARD ACTIONS REPORTED

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 19. — British troops are beginning to evacuate the British Somaliland capital of Berbera under the hammer blows of Italian aviation and ground forces, authoritative Italian quarters claimed today.

Official quarters stated:

"We have definite information that the English are beginning to embark troops from Berbera.

"The situation greatly resembles the English evacuation from Dunkerque in France."

This statement was made in Rome a few minutes after an Italian military bulletin announced that Italian troops have captured and advanced beyond Lafaruk, south of Berbera, and are pushing British forces toward the coast.

"Since Zeila (already held by the Italians) and Berbera are the only two ports on the whole British Somaliland coast," Italian authorities declared, "We are having at Berbera a repetition of what happened at Dunkerque.

Rearguard Actions

"Bitter rearguard actions are going on near Berbera and we expect these will be finished tomorrow. There is little resistance elsewhere.

"Whereas the British are using splendid Rhodesia and Indian native troops, we are trusting the main action to Italians and natives are engaging only in subsidiary ifghting."

At the same time these sources said that nine British planes were brought down during an air raid against Bardia on the Libyan coast.

They added that a fleet of British ships, including four cruisers, eight destroyers adn one aircraft carrier, was sighted August 16 by Italian planes returning from a reconnaissance flight over Alexandria. The British vessels were bombed all day but escaped under protection of bad weather. They were sighted at dawn the next day when the bombing of Bardia began, authorities said.

Ships toward which the British are retreating are being subjected to continuous aerial bombardment, the communique said.

British air raids on Milan, Turin and other Italian centers were announced by the communique, which indicated no important damage was caused.

Woman Wounded In 'Fake Hold-up' Likely To Survive

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 19—Mrs. Robert Headley, the Greene county woman who was wounded seriously in what police described as a faked hold-up designed to take her life, was reported recovering today by Memorial hospital attaches. Although she was struck five times in the abdomen, she was given a better than even chance of recovering.

Mrs. Headley's husband, and two women, Mrs. Otis Cumberledge, a widow and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pettit, were being held in jail meanwhile, pending a hearing tonight on formal charges. According to police, the woman signed statements admitting they had disguised themselves in men's clothing and had faked the hold-up.

Their confession, police said, implicated Headley. The two sisters were quoted as saying they hid in the Headley garage until Mr. and Mrs. Headley and their son drove in.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—Prediction by Meredith Meyers, state Democratic chairmen, that additional highway department appointments could be expected due to the approaching election campaign brought an angry denial from Governor James. . . . The chief executive said he "seemed to remember" a case involving the Earle administration, with obvious reference to payroll padding charges on which former secretary Roy E Brownmiller was convicted in outgrowth of the 1938 Democratic campaign probe. . . Brownmiller has appealed the sentence, imposed by Dauphin county court. . . . The governor explained that if any new workmen were added to the highway rolls it would be due to temporary construction rather than because of the approaching election.

The end of the row kicked up by the governor's dismissal of two State Liquor Control Board officials is not yet in sight. . . . On the heels of the statement by H. Raymond Greenleaf, board chemist, that he was dismissed because he discovered a firm selling "short weight" pints of liquor, another dismissed official, Charles W. Beppler, formerly inventory chief, intimated he also might have something to say shortly. . . . The governor brusquely brushed aside newspapermens' inquiries, asserting the letters of dismissal "speak for themselves."

Completing a 7,000-mile air tour of 16 states, Benjamin B. Lamotte, chairman of the York County Willkie club, said he discovered considerable opposition to the Democratic national ticket on account of the third-term tradition, unpopularity for vice presidential candidate Henry A. Wallace, and conscription.

Several hundred jobs remain to be filled on Capitol Hill, but the number is growing fewer from day to day. . . . The greatest turnover since Governor James took office has accurred in the Department of Revenue. . . . Secretary William J. Hamilton, Jr., is said to have replaced 97 per cent. of the people he found on the payroll when he entered office.

Seventy Five In Mercer County Seek Citizenship

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Aug. 19—Seventy five Mercer county aliens this week took the preliminary examination in American history and the rudiments of government, given by a representative from the Federal Bureau of Immigration, to prepare them for the December term of Naturalization Court. Thirty six were examined last week and it is expected that 75 will appear during next week, the final date set for this work. All tests must be completed 90 days before the court convenes in December. This is the largest number to seek citizenship in the county in ten years, the heavy increase being due to the European situation. Two hundred have filed their first papers for the December court.

Would Limit Floor Season

Basketball Coaches Would Cut Down Early Practice For Floor Game

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 19.—Football coaches of Pennsylvania high schools are expected to ask the state athletic association to pass legislation limiting the length of basketball season in the state.

At the first annual western Pennsylvania coaches' school, which closed Saturday at Conneaut Lake, the grid mentors discussed the matter. Many pointed out their work was made more difficult because some of the basketball mentors started practice when the grid season was at its peak.

This plan, they said, tended to cause many promising athletes not to report for football and also took student-interest away from the grid sport. The grid mentors believe basketball practice should not be started before Nov. 1 and the season should close when the team is eliminated from the state play in the spring.

School Vocational Training Plan Will Be Extended

(Inernational News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Encouraged by the excellent showing of its students, the board of education's vocational re-training schools are being expanded to accommodate thousands of additional workers eager to find work under Uncle Sam's new defense program.

Nearly 200 of 1300 students in Philadelphia's special vocational institutions obtained jobs after only two to four weeks' instruction, according to Charles F. Bauder, acting director of vocational education. The graduates now fill posts paying from 75 cents to $1.50 an hour, he said.

"The present staff of 29 teachers —plus 32 to be added later this month—must be increased to upward of 200 by fall," Bauder predicted. "Six new schools have been added since start of the program and more are needed."

The courses cover automobile body reconditioning, automotive maintenance, electrical maintenance, machine shop operation, mechanical drawing and blueprint reading, power sewing machine operation, sheet metal work and electrical and oxy-acetylene welding. Classes run eight hours a day, five days a week.

Practically all expenses of the schools are paid by the state department of education, which receives $350,000 in federal funds for vocational training in defense industries. An advisory council for national defense training has been formed by the board to assure compliance with requirements of industry and the federal government.

Social Problems Fluctuate With Price Movements

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Aug. 19.—A peculiar relationship appears to exist between price movements and social problems, Dr. M. E. John, rural sociologist at the Pennsylvania State College, commented.

When prices rose rapidly from 1914 to 1920, he said, the divorce rate per 100,000 people in the United States advanced from 110 to 160. During the ensuing depression, the divorce rate fell to 128. An increase in prices from 1932 to 1935 was accompanied by an increase in the number of divorces to 171 per 100,000 of population. In "hard times" many people want divorces who can't afford them, said Dr. John, although he believes that financial problems have a tendency to bring husbands and wives into closer harmony.

Says Willkie Was Brilliant Student

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 19.—Wendell L. Willkie was a "brilliant student," recalled the presidential nominee's former high school zoology instructor.

Dr. William A. Broyles, now a gray haired professor of agricultural education at the Pennsylvania State College, said he instructed Willkie during the first year as a teacher.

"He was a brilliant student even then. All of the Willkie children were excellent students. There were six of them."

Professor Broyles' wife, who remembers Willkie's mother as a neighbor, in speaking highly of the Republican party's No. 1 man, said:

"I need only tell you that she has reared six children—all of them college graduates, has run a flourishing law business, and has kept a big home, for you to understand why she impressed me so."

RESCUE SQUAD NOTICE

August 17, 1940.

To the Editor New Castle News:

Dear Sir:

In our attempt to establish a system of protection and service in this community, we have found our greatest obstacle concerns the safety of those persons visiting the many swimming holes in this vicinity. These places are scattered along the Slippery Rock and the Connoquenessing and, in many cases, are some distances from a phone or any means of summoning help when needed. Further, it is impossible to have equipment located in these places, or to have Life guards stationed at each one.

Therefore, in order to establish the highest possible amount of protection, we have posted signs along the rivers giving our phone number and a location number. By means of the location number, we are enabled to know exactly where to go in case we are called.

To assure the success of this plan, we must depend entirely on obtaining the complete cooperation of the public. We suggest that when visiting these places, everyone should familiarize themselves with that area, and know where the nearest phones are located. And, if help is needed, call us from one of these phones as quickly as possible, for minutes in a water emergency may mean a life.

We also ask that persons please refrain from removing or destroying these signs. Some day they may be needed.

Thanking you for your cooperation, I am

Sincerely yours,

CECIL E. KOCHER,
Captain.

Air Conditioning Is Old Stuff Says Philadelphia Man

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Air conditioning is pretty old stuff to nature, according to Dr. Rubin Lewis, of Philadelphia.

Dr. Lewis revealed that everyone has a system whereby his body is kept cool in summer and warm in winter.

The body normally produces a certain amount of heat, he explained, and in summer blood vessels under the skin increase their circulation in an attempt to dissipate as much heat as possible through the epidermis. In winter, these vessels slacken their circulation to prevent body-heat from escaping through the skin.

Many East Indian women prefer soap nut, fruit of a tree, to regular soap for washing woolens and silks.

HOW TO GET A $100 LOAN WITHOUT ENDORSERS

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $6.97 a month—See table for other loan plans—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service.

YOU can get a personal loan —without red tape or delay —if you can repay in small monthly installments. All you do to apply for a loan at Household is to acquaint us with your problem. You need no bankable security—no endorsers or guarantors.

You may repay your loan on any of the schedules shown in the table below. Thus you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own needs and income.

Payments to fit your purse

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Tigers Facing Crucial Test

Open Important Series In East With Indians Leading Three And Half Games

By ED KIELY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—Detroit's jittery Tigers, battling to overcome Cleveland's three - and - one-half game lead in the American League, today began their last and most crucial invasion of the east.

The first three days of this week the Bengals will battle a rejuvenated New York nine and then move on to Boston, Philadelphia and Washington in that order.

Meeting the Yankees at this time is not the most pleasant task, for the world's champions, unleashing some of their latent power, have won seven out of their last nine engagements. On the other hand, the Tigers have just dropped a three-game series to the Chicago White Sox.

White Sox Wins

Probably saving his best pitchers for the New York series, Manager Del Baker sent Rookie Johnny Gorsica in against the White Sox yesterday, but young Johnny and his successor, Al Benton, proved a poor gamble. The Pale Hose belted both of them for 13 hits, staged a three-run ninth inning rally and walked off with a 7 to 5 victory. Sabbath heaver Ted Lyons was credited with the victory.

A heavy rain washed out a scheduled doubleheader between the Indians and St. Louis after the first game was called at the end of the ninth with the score tied at 2-all. The Browns tied the game in the last frame shortly before the rains came.

Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio socked home runs as the Boston Red Sox hurdled the Washington Senators, 4 to 2, and the Yanks divided a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics, winning the opener, 9 to 1 and losing the nightcap, 7 to 3.

Continuing to show little respect for the league-leaders, the St. Louis Cardinals took their second straight doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1 and 5 to 4. Mort Cooper outpitched Bucky Walters, who suffered his ninth loss of the year, in the opener. Pinch-hitter Don Gutteridge's single to score Johnny Hopp, who had tripled with the Winning run, was the payoff clout in the nightcap. The double victory gave the Cards complete possession of fourth place.

Dodgers Win Two

Meanwhile, Brooklyn moved to within four-and-one-half games of first place by cooling off the Boston Bees in a twin-bill. Whitlow Wyatt won his 13th victory in the first game by turning in a 7 to 2 performance and Luke Hamlin, who did not throw his "homer" pitch all afternoon won the second contest, 3 to 1.

Lefty Larry French limited his former teammates, to six hits as the Chicago Cubs trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 1, to go into a tie with the Buccaneers for fifth place. The basement bunch of Philadelphia Phillies with Johnny Rizzo belting two homers, drubbed the New York Giants twice, 6 to 3 and 8 to 6.

New Castle Faces Sharon On Tuesday

Round-Robin Series Game On Elder Field Starting At 5:30 O'clock

Seventeen local sandlotters eagerly await the starting time for their battle with Sharon in the Atlantic Refining Company free baseball school round-robin series.

New Castle and Sharon clash on Elder Field, Tuesday evening at 5:30 o'clock.

A large gallery is expected to cheer the localities as they bid for the coveted district title. Both squads will appear in their new uniforms, gifts of the sponsors of the school.

The New Castle squad includes, besides the 16 players previously mentioned, Majors, a pitcher.

The tourney involves similar squads from New Castle, Altoona, Johnstown, Butler and Sharon. The winners will compete in the finals to be staged in Philadelphia.

I. W. O. WINS GAME

HE'S FAVORITE FOR TRAPSHOOT

While there are no favorites for the Grand American Handicap, premier trapshooting event, Joe Hiestand, of Hillsboro, O., is considered the strongest entry in the shoot which takes place at Vandalia, O., the week of Aug. 19. Hiestand broke 1,139 consecutive clay targets from 16 yards for a world's record two years ago.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports cocktail: . . . Several officials of the City-County Independent Baseball league and City loop have started the ball rolling for a post season series involving coronet winners of both circuits. Said moguls are deeply interested in settling the old question of which league is the stronger.

County class B schools are preparing for their perennial grid warfare. Rumors leaking out of various communities indicate that Besseber's monopoly on the title will finally end. Shenango Township and Union Township, 'tis whispered, will have plenty on the apple. Bessemerites are unusually quiet, for some unknown reason.

"I'm going to let you in on the ground floor," one of the readers writes in. The contributor, in no uncertain terms, beats the drum for one Canco Kid. "Here's a kid who is really going places in the fight business. Mark his name down. 'Fizzle' Fazzone and Jimmy Guido are handling this comer," we are informed.

Paul Moss, who serves as Billy Soose's mouthpiece, told Tommy Gibbons, Sharon scribe, that the handsome Farrell lad will knock out Tony Zale, middleweight boss. We're just wondering what Soose is going to use, a sledge hammer? We're afraid here's one match Soose should have taken.

Although he hasn't even had a chance to see them in much action as yet, Dr. "Jock" Sutherland thinks the pros don't block as well as the collegiate lads . . . Only 58 candidates will report at Tulane. Bobby Glass, the lad New Castle stopped cold one night at Massillon, figures to be the central figure on the team.

"Bucky" Walters seems to do all right against the Bucs. The Cincy thrower has spilled the Pics three times this season . . . "Freddy" Fitzsimmons is such an outstanding fielder for a pitcher that he played through four full seasons without making an error.

B. T. W. Team Trips Fannins

The Booker T. Washington team defeated the Fannins yesterday in a Class B softball league game at B. T. W. field 10 to 6. The winning hurler was Johnson, the loser was Jenkins.

The Red Sox and Croton game for Tuesday night has been postponed until a later date, owing to the New Castle-Sharon Atlantic baseball school game at Elders Field Tuesday night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

While it is expected that the popularity of Sammy Angott and Fritzie Zivic will pack a lot of fight fans into Forbes field a week from Monday, the announcement by Promoters Art Rooney and Barney McGinley that Ben Morosz, six footten, 285 pound Giant would meet Big Jim Thompson mere 245-pound six-four Negro, in one of the preliminaries, has quickened interest among those who like their fighting flesh big and tough.

Morosz is bigger than Jess Willard and bigger even than Primo Carnera, and a better boxer than either. He is not yet 21 and has youth and stamina. He moves around better than some middleweights. Morosz has only been boxing a year, but in that time has picked up enough that he has no fear of Thompson one of the smarter of veteran heavyweight campaigners. With two mastodons slugging it out, those who like to see heavyweights in action likely will get their fill.

Purse totalling more than $3100 will be the rich stakes sought by more than 100 horses when the annual race meeting of the Butler Fair and Exposition opens on Wednesday, August 21. The racing continues Thursday and Friday with post time at 1:30 o'clock (EST) each day. Two handicap events, the 2:14 pace and the 2:14 trot, will feature the three day program. The following is the program for the week: Wednesday, August 21—2-2:26 pace; 2:17 trot! 2:14 handicap pace; on Thursday, August 22—2:22 trot; 2:17 pace; 2:14 handicap trot and Friday, August 23—2:22 pace; 2:26 trot and overnight event.

Kenny La Salle and Charlie Burley are scheduled to box 10 rounds tonight at Hickey Park, Millvale. . . . Willis Anderson of Los Angeles is favored to win the national public parks tennis championship which will get under way today at Cincinnati. . . . Russell H. Johnson, 61, president of the American Kennel club died yesterday at Fairview Ridge, Pa., from a heart attack. Funeral services will be held Tuesday. . . . John Topper won the Westmoreland County tennis championship at Mt. Pleasant, Sunday.

Tom McMahon, former heavyweight fighter who outpointed Jesse Willard shortly before Willard knocked out Jack Johnson to win the heavyweight title, will assist Joe Louis, world's heavyweight king to referee the bout at Beaver Falls Friday night. There will be several 10-rounders, one of which will be an Eddie Simms-Jack Trammel fight. Johnny Dean, local middleweight will not box at Beaver Falls. He was billed to fight Howdy Mason. However, Dean stopped. Steve Morgan. The latter vanquished Mason, hence it was believed Dean would be too good for Mason.

MIKE TURNESA SHOOTS HOT GOLF
(International News Service)

ELMSFORD, N. Y., Aug. 19—It's a pretty tough task to act as a substitute for Bobby Jones, the one-time grand slam golf champion but approximately 1,200 natives who witnessed a Red Cross benefit golf match here yesterday, today are convinced Mike Turnesa, pro at the local club, is a pretty fair replacement.

When Jones was forced to return to Atlanta because of an illness in his family, Turnesa took his place and teamed up with Horton Smith in an 8-hole match against Jimmy Thomson and Lawson Little, two of the game's longest hitters. The match ended all even, with Turnesa shooting the best round—a 68, three under par. Little posted a 73; Smith shot a 73, and Thomson scored a 75.

Lawson Little Will Play Here

New National Open Champion Will Play At Field Club Friday Afternoon

New Castle will get a peek at the 1940 National Open golf champion on Friday afternoon, it was announced today by Angelo "Dike" Monsey Field club pro—the champion is none other than Lawson Little, who won his title at Canterbury Country Club Cleveland in the spring. The match will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Little will play with three local golfers in a 18 hole best ball match—the foursome will be made up of German Green, one time Field club champion, Monsey and probably Emil Grommes, of Castle Hills.

Little is one of the outstanding golfers in the country and has a pleasing personality. Following the best-ball match, Little will give a lecture and demonstrate various intricate golf shots.

At one time Little held both the American and British amateur championships.

It will be the first golfer of prominence who has been here since Billy Burke, the then national open champ played at the Field Club with George Von Elm, George Trainor and the late Cap Smith.

WEST PITTSBURG WALLOPS ELDERS

Braky allowed Elders 11 hits yesterday at West Pittsburg, but kept them scattered, as the "Gas House" team went to work on Eddie Lamm and Ostrosky for 19 hits to win 14 to 4.

Leading the hit parade for West Pittsburg was James Marky with four hits, and he also scored four runs. Kolick hit a long homer for the winners. Other hard hitters were A. Marky with two triples and a single, Aloe, Layton and Ostrosky.

Outside of the third inning Braky was never in trouble. The "Gas Housers" are in third place in the league standing and still have a chance for the second-half pennant.

Mercer County Loses 227 Dogs

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 19—Since the first of the year the canine population of Mercer county has been decreased by 227 dogs, mostly mongrels according to O. A. Perschka, county agent of the State Bureau of Animal Industry. Most of these killed were strays that had been abandoned and compelled to shift for food. Dog owners as a rule have been willing to comply with the law and secure a licence when they learn that the state means business and insists that the county agent performs his duties.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

What should we talk about first today . . . the rain is probably the most pleasant topic. Rain that has missed this vicinity for the past few weeks and rain that was much needed by those who depend on their gardens for food stuff . . . and that takes in about everyone . . . maybe you don't have a garden yourself but you do like fresh things to eat . . . this little bit of rain should make the potatoes grow . . . and we could stand a little more, so let's hope!

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold their mid-summer dance on Friday evening August 23 . . . Rainbow Terrace at Cascade Park will be the setting . . . dance from nine until question mark to the tunes of Johnny Pine and his orchestra. In case you are wondering about dress, it is to be semi-formal.

Quite a few folks have been lost on the detour to Youngstown. After they make the first turn at New Bedford signs are not too plentiful . . . a sign at the next bend would do a world of good . . . maybe the detour committee or what have you of this territory could look into this situation.

The police were on their toes this past week end . . . they nipped a nice little robbing party at a local store . . . official details will be found in the front part of this newspaper.

Another proof that the classified ads are read: Mrs. Emma McKissick, Neshannock avenue, advertised in these columns recently for a watch she had lost. Within a very short time after this paper was on the street, Mrs. McKissick received a call from the finder of the watch . . . hundreds of other people know the value of classified ads.

If you want a small four-month-old dog call 5587 . . . this is "just a dog" but would make some little boy or girl happy . . . Call early so you won't be disappointed.

While we are waiting for a thought to come along . . . how is your garden coming along? One day last spring we mentioned an idea that might help to keep the beetles away from beans . . . Planting of buckwheat with the beans. Some folks tried this idea and as we understand from their reports found buckwheat all to be what is was said to be. No beetles and lots of beans.

Stock Market Is Dull Today

Market Is Mixed And Dull As New Week Starts, London Market Reported Firm

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The stock market was mixed today in extremely dull trading. While the London market was firm on British victory claims in the newest Nazi attack on London, the list here preferred to wait for a more definite cue on the outcome of the aerial blitzkrieg.

Turnover in the first hour was only 30,000 shares, one of the smallest trading periods in the current protracted dull spell.

Some blue chips rose easily. Du-Pont gained nearly 2 points. American Telephone was up a point, and Eastman Kodak almost as much. American Air Lines moved up over a point.

Chrysler Corp., was off slightly, and General Motors eased also after a firm start.

Most steel shares improved, but Bethlehem was a backward exception. Price changes in the group were unimportant.

Small losses and equally small gains were about evenly divided in the rail group. The same was true of the utilities.

Westinghouse started more than a point higher but lost most of this later. Oils were reactionary.

Sankey Anniversary Attracts Attention

The news that the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Ira D. Sankey, Lawrence County's world-famed son, is to be celebrated in New Castle on August 28th has spread all over the country. Tributes and comments from outstanding people are being received.

Upon learning of the celebration, Doctor William Lyon Phelps, Professor of English Literature, Yale University, one of this country's foremost educators offered the following tribute in a letter to F. B. Sankey of this city:

"Dear Mr. Sankey:

In 1878 Moody and Sankey came to Hartford, Connecticut, where I was a schoolboy. The rink was opened for their meetings—an immense place like an armory. At the very first meeting Sankey sang, "Only An Armour Bearer." I heard him over and over again singing "Sowing the Seed", "Almost Persuaded", "The Ninety and Nine", "Are Your Windows Open?"—in fact I could go on indefinitely. He played his own accompaniment, and there was something about his baritone voice that was enormously affecting. He had a way of pausing between lines of the song and in that pause the vast audience remained absolutely silent. He was a man of the finest character, and I remember his saying to a religious gathering of people in Brooklyn who thought that Henry Drummond was not orthodox enough, "Do not on any account ever say anything against Henry Drummond; for some day you might meet him and then you will be sorry you ever said anything against him."

Faithfully yours,
WM. LYON PHELPS.

Houghton To Speak

The speaker of the Centennial celebration, Dr. Will H. Houghton, president of Moody Bible Schools, Chicago, Ill., sent this telegram to Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of our First M. E. church:

August 12.

"Consider it a privilege to give address at Sankey Centenary. He is a historical character for whom I hold real affection, and I have had the privilege of speaking in many cities of Great Britain in which he was such a remarkable success. You may expect me the date mentioned. Would appreciate further information."

WILL H. HOUGHTON.

Mrs. May Whittle Moody, daughter-in-law of Dwight L. Moody, the equally famous co-worker of Sankey, sent warm congratulations. Mrs. Moody has arranged with Edward McHugh, the radio singer, to sing Sankey's famous song, "The Ninety and Nine" over a national radio hook-up on the centennial day.

Edward McHugh, whose voice is said to strikingly resemble Sankey's, will sing over WOR at 8:15 in the morning of August 28th.

Mrs. Moody also arranged the music for a carillon concert given in Sankey's honor at the General Conference held in The Northfield Schools in Northfield, Massachusetts. Sankey's own hymns were used in this carillon concert.

Distinguished guests from all over the country are preparing to attend the Sankey Centennial which is to be held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral at 8:15 on the evening of August 28th. The interesting program is to be free to the public and lovers of religious music and followers of the Sankey tradition from all over Lawrence County are expected to fill the auditorium.

"Boom Town" Opens In Penn On Friday

Story Of Old Time Oil Town Stars Gable, Tracy, Lamarr And Colbert

According to M. D. Cohn, manager of the Penn Theatre, New Castle is to have one of the first showings in Western Pennsylvania, of the highly praised movie "Boom Town" starring Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Hedy Lamarr, and Claudette Colbert, when this expensive production opens a week engagement at the Penn starting Friday.

Boom Town is a story of the oil fields and the partnership of two rough men, as played by Gable and Tracy. They remain fast friends through adversity, even though one marries the sweetheart of the other. They split when the husband apparently is untrue to the wife, with Claudette Colbert in that part, but are reunited in later years. However, in the meantime, a siren played as only Hedy Lamarr could play the role, enters into the story to complicate matters. The situations and climax of this absorbing screen drama bring entertainment that such stars as Gable, Tracy, Colbert and Lamarr, together are able to deliver to a movie audience. Preview comment of critics point to Boon Town as being the highlight of movie fare this season.

Due to the size of the attraction, the Penn will slightly increase prices for the engagment of Boom Town. Matinee prices will be 35 cents including Defense Tax and night prices will be 60c including tax. Children under twelve years of age will be admitted for 15 cents, no tax. Boom town will show at the Penn on a continuous program starting daily at one o'clock and playing one week.
